

Dear Sir or Madam

Dear friends

Today's newsletter looks at the failure of the rector of the University of Zurich, the significance of Moses for our own time, and the Israeli defence company Elbit Systems.

Today's topics

Weak leadership. At the University of Zurich, a well-known anti-Israel and antisemitic Palestinian speaker was allowed to appear with the blessing of Rector Michael Schaepman, despite prior warnings, including from politicians. This could have criminal and political consequences. Anti-Semitism: Rector of the University of Zurich under criminal suspicion - FokusIsrael

Leadership. In Judaism, Moses, who led the people of Israel out of Egyptian slavery and into freedom, is reverently called "Moshe Rabbeinu" — Moses, our teacher. In an AI interview with FokusIsrael.ch, Moses shows why he still has much to tell us today, 3,300 years later. Moses to FokusIsrael.ch: Moses to FokusIsrael.ch: "In times of existential threat, fighting is a collective duty."

Hypocrisy. Following an intervention from the Palestinian side, the Social Democratic Party of the city of Zurich, seconded by the Tages-

Anzeiger, criticised the city of Zurich's pension fund. The reason: it has invested in the Israeli defence company Elbit Systems and profited financially from it. What does not seem to bother the SP and the Tagi: they themselves also benefit from Elbit Systems, as its drones and communications technology serve the Swiss army in protecting the population. The Tages-Anzeiger and the SP are happy with anything that goes against Israel - FokusIsrael
